

Narrow Gauge Railway Museum

Narrow Gauge Railway Museum – Station Museum

Sochaczew Commuter Railway was established in 1921-22. The first route led to the village of Tułowice. The history of the museum began on November 30, 1984 at 3:35pm, when the last scheduled train to Wyszogród set off on the route. 135 museum exhibits are currently on display at the outdoor exhibition. It is the largest museum of steam locomotives and other rail vehicles in Poland and Europe. During the summer season – from April to October – the museum organises train trips to the edge of the Kampinos Forest.

The Rosary Garden of Reflection and the Chapel of the Mother of God of the Rosary

At the back of St. Lawrence's church is the Rosary Garden of Remnants. This unique place combines religious, patriotic and historical values. You can find 20 rosary secrets here just by walking down the paths. It's surrounded by the roads of the cross station – with Sochaczew's history on the background. There's also no lack of other symbols in the garden, such as the Polish White Eagle with a gorget hanging on the breast with Our Lady of Częstochowa. It's not only a place for prayer, but for reflective rest from the noise of the city. Additionally, in the side chapel, in the intricately carved golden altar is a reconstructed faithful copy of the lost miraculous image of Our Lady of the Rosary-Sochaczew.

Panorama of Sochaczew

Castle ruins

The Bust of Marshal Józef Piłsudski

Visit Sochaczew, a land of nearly 700 years of history, located at an intersection of important trade routes. Today, it's a city of almost 40 thousand with a rich culture and dynamically evolving economy, lying just 1.5 kilometres from Żelazowa Wola. Sochaczew is a city of many cultural events, including stand-out events such as the Jazz Festival, Folklore Festival, Sochaczew's Meeting with Chopin and the International Chopin Festival in Mazovia. It's also a city of many historical attractions. It's worth starting your journey at the Museum of Sochaczew Land and the Bzura Battlefield. From there, go to the castle hill, where on every summer afternoon among the picturesque ruins, shows for visitors take place. In turn, you can set off on an unforgettable journey by retro train from the Narrow Gauge Railway Museum towards the Kampinos Forest. Sochaczew is the perfect place for hiking and cycling. Another interesting offer is the city beach with a canoe, from where you can go to, for example, the picturesque Bzura river basin. It's only thanks to a visit to Sochaczew that you can fully understand the qualities of Chopin's Little Homeland

Castle ruins

From the mid-fourteenth century to the year 1476, Sochaczew castle was the seat of the Dukes of Mazovia. In 2013, the ruins were secured and reinforced. The whole area has gained a new look thanks to the courtyard and paths, becoming a unique place combining scenic and historical values. The castle ruins are a place for cultural events. Underlying Bzura's leisure areas are clearly visible from the abovementioned castle ruins.

Kościuszko Square and the surroundings

Kościuszko Square is situated the centre of the city. Today, it is a place for relaxation and a meeting spot for the residents of Sochaczew. In front of the Church of St. Lawrence is a monument of two great Poles: Pope John Paul II and Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński. Nearby is the Lukceja Cafe, serving delicious Chopin Mazurki's. On the opposite side, on ul. Traugutta, is the revitalized Fryderyk Chopin Park. The heart of this park is a monument dedicated to the patron. A stone obelisk, chisel-sculptured by Maksymilian Biskupski, commemorates Fryderyk Chopin's stay with General Piotr Szembek on the 29th of August 1830.

The Museum of Sochaczew Land and The Bzura Battlefield

The museum is located within the historic city hall, erected in 1825-28 in the northern frontage of Kościuszki Square. The classicist style of the building makes it a representative point of the city. The museum collects memorabilia from the I and II World Wars for permanent and outdoor exhibitions. It is a place of many cultural events.

The Bust of Marshal Józef Piłsudski

In front of the County Headquarters of the State Fire Service stands The Bust of Marshal Józef Piłsudski – the first Honorary Citizen of Sochaczew. It was unveiled during the hundredth anniversary celebrations of Polish independence. The copy of the sculpture, according to the original by prof. Konstanty Laszczka, was made by sculptor Mariusz Wasilewski. The location of the monument is no accident – it's in this place that more than 100 years ago, namely on the 11th of November 1918, Sochaczewian firefighters started the fight for independence and it is here that for the first time after 123 years of captivity, they hung the Polish flag, and they are the ones, who disarmed the German garrison with the aim of establishing Polish statehood.

I. W. Garbolewski Park in front of the music school

A great place for walking and recreation for the whole family is Ignacy Włodzimierz Garbolewski Park. It's a typical example of a 19th century court garden with a pond. The whole area has recently undergone a thorough revitalization: greenery was taken care of, there are new, but historically reflected, walking paths with summer stage and summer garden were set up. Everyone can start their adventure with music here, especially considering the fact that near the historic manor house, there is the State Music School named after F. Chopin.
